By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, May 6 .- Refusal to abandon the Presidency in face of the menace of rebellion featured a manifesto issued yesterday on the occasion of the national holiday by President

The President announced that he would fight to a finish to put down the rebellion and that he would not turn over the Presidency to any one except a legally elected successor. He enunclated the principle of the elimination of the coup d'etat from Mexican politics, asserting that the Presidency must not be a prize for military

In the manifesto President Carranza said it would be impossible to hold the Presidential elections which had been set for July 4. Also he traced the events in Mexico, which he charged represented a plot by the followers of Gen. Obregon to gain the Presidency through means of violence.

May Day in Moscow Devoted to Work

MOSCOW, May 2.—Residents of Moscow, estimated to number 150.000, celebrated May day in a novel fashion, devoting part of the holiday to productive work. Long processions, of volunteer workers filled the streets early in the morning. Each worker received pound of bread and also a workman's bag, which was the almost universal decoration of the day in Moscow. Last night there were dances in the streets and theatrical performances. Nicolai Lenine and other leaders of the Bolsheviki delivered speeches. The entire population, while imbued with the carnival spirit, seemed impressed with the idea that working on May day was most appropriate in the task of upbuilding the country.

Three Plans Proposed.

The agreement on the proposal by Sir came after three distinct Watson schemes had been before the conference. The proposals advanced by Great Britain, France and Belgium were:

1. The British suggestion for interallied currency notes, issued by the allied Governments jointly at normal exchange rates, with guaranteed payment at the expiration of five years the temporary withdrawal from circulation of a corresponding amount of each Government's treas-ury issues, each Government to accept a proportion of this issue com-mensurate with their international purchases of foodstuffs and raw materials. 2. The Belgian plan, which provides for an issue of international gold bonds through an international exchange institute which is to be created, the bonds to bear a definite rate of interest and to be guaranteed by the national wealth of each participating country. These bonds would not be legal tender, but merely negotiable between participating countries for the payment only of foodstuffs and materials which are indispensable to European recon-

3. The French proposal, representa combination of the British and Belgian features, whereby the Governments would issue non-interest paying bonds, which would be considered legal tender only insofar as concerns payment for necessary foodstuffs and materials, but not representing a new currency issue, which likely would inflate further international issues.

The congress also is discussing various schemes for improving shipping facilities between peaceful nations, which will be transmitted to the various Governments represented for development by official commercial departments.
